

DATE NIGHT

HANGING AT HOME: BEER, POPCORN, & TUNES

BEER, POPCORN, & TUNES

Just because you can't get out the house doesn't mean you can't try something new. Spend the evening reminiscing over music from your dating years while you enjoy a sampling of new beers and gourmet popcorn.

To prepare, one spouse should pick up some yummy gourmet popcorn from the supermarket along with several different bottles of beer that you've never tried before. Most larger stores will have a section where you can buy individual bottles of craft brews - buy local selections when possible. Feel free to substitute wine or soda if that's your preference.

The other spouse will be responsible for the tunes. Think back to your favorite songs from your dating days and/or the early days of your marriage. Put together a playlist on iTunes, YouTube, etc. so you can enjoy the memories that come from listening to great music.

Get those kids in bed, crank up your playlist and enjoy sampling small pours of different brews while munching on some fancy popcorn. The memories and conversation will flow from there.

